DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 04/27/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The new limitations entered in the independent rejected claims do not place the case in condition for allowance. The new limitations "said elongated driver shaft rigidly connected to the distraction device" do not add any structure limitation to the claims and not even differentiate the application to the prior art. For example, the meaning of the word "rigidly" in the Merriam-Webster dictionary is: ---precise and accurate in procedure; firmly inflexible---. Therefore, the Doty reference clearly discloses an elongated driver shaft having a precise and accurate connection to the distraction device. For the above reasons the Examiner made the office action final.

Regarding claim 54, see Figs. 4 & 5 disclosing a rounded leading end portion.

Regarding claim 71, the device of Doty is capable of treating spondylolisthesis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 44-51, 54, 55 and 71 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by

Doty US Patent 4,599,086

Art Unit: 3738

Doty discloses an elongated stem (12) having a height, a first end, a second end, a longitudinal axis and a flange (66, upper section) extending outward from the stem and a transverse stop element (66, lower end). An elongated driver shaft (32) extending generally along the axis and sized to extend outside of the intervertebral space. The shaft is capable of applying an external force to the implant to transmit an axial force (see Figs. 5 & 6).

Expressions relating the apparatus to contents thereof during an intended operation are of no significance in determining patentability of the apparatus claim. Ex parte Thibault, 164 USPQ 666, 667 (Bd. App. 1969).

Claims are being treated as product by process claims. In accordance with MPEP 2113, these claims are not limited to the manipulations of the recited steps, only the structure implied by the steps.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 40 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over EP 0179695 in view of Ray US Patent 6,042,582.

EP 0179695 discloses a distraction device (12) comprising an elongated stem (20) having a first end, second end, a longitudinal axis, a length along the axis, a flange projecting outward (15) and a transverse stop element (15, lower end). However, EP 0179695 does not disclose a plurality of ridges.

Ray teaches an implant comprising a plurality of ridges for the purpose of increasing the surface area contact with the end plates and to facilitate retention between adjacent vertebrae (see col. 8, lines 54-63).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the EP reference with the Ray reference in order to increase the surface area of the implant and to facilitate retention between adjacent vertebrae.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 15-23, 41-43, 52, 65 and 67 allowed.

Claim 54 and 55 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3738
